

Compass Pharmacies offers customers a digital tool for medication management

Oct. 20, 2015 – Halifax, NS: Compass Pharmacies is pleased to announce their partnership with Health QR. As the first pharmacy to come on board with Health QR, Compass Pharmacies has access to the new Health QR mobile app that will help their customers better manage their own medications.

“After 35 years, I had to switch doctors,” Gary Carson, early adopter of Health QR said. “During my consultation, I was able to bring up my current medication on my phone and she could see what my current healthcare situation was.”

The app allows customers to receive refill reminders five days before they’re due and prescription reminders one month before the prescription expires. This feature also gives the user the ability to order their refill from their smartphone. Health QR also offers the ability to co-manage your medications with a trusted caregiver.

“At Compass Pharmacies, we are committed to improving medication adherence amongst our customers,” Sujay Khiroya, General Manager of Compass Pharmacies said. “Health QR gives us the support we need to make that happen.”

Health QR continues to develop new medication management services for prescription customers. Compass Pharmacies will be piloting a series of medication reminders for prescription customers alerting them when it is time to take their medications. This partnership will provide the best product to clients and work to improve medication adherence.

“As a pioneer in building Health QR, Compass Pharmacies has built a network of one hundred users,” Patti Ryan, CEO, Health QR said. “Their dedication to better supporting their customers is a major component to the success of Health QR.”
