Local tech startup CEO, Patti Ryan makes top 30 in Radical Generosity

Nov. 13, 2015 - Halifax, NS: Health QR's CEO, Patti Ryan has been selected as a finalist in the SheEO movement, Radical Generosity. This program aims to help finance, support, and celebrate women-led ventures in Canada.

"It's an honour to be chosen as a finalist. Looking at the list of finalists, there are so many women building amazing companies that do great things for their communities," Patti Ryan, CEO, Health QR said. "I am proud to be a part of this group of inspirational women in Canada."

Radical Generosity is a movement within SheEO that aims to get one thousand women to contribute $1,000 each to help finance, support, and celebrate women-led ventures across Canada. Out of the finalists, 10 will be chosen to share the $1 million. These 10 will meet to divide the money amongst themselves with two simple rules: They can't give it all to one person and they can't divide it up evenly.

"The 1,000 women who contributed to this fund is the big story here. Building a culture of women supporting women led businesses is amazing and I look forward to participating as an activator one day," says Ryan.

Health QR aims to empower individuals by giving them access to their prescription medications. The support received from Innovacorp, ACOA and many partners who provide services through Volta Labs in Halifax help Health QR in accomplishing our aims. It's having access to early stage funding that is critical to ensuring Health QR continues to grow and succeed in larger, more competitive markets.
